Too bad you've only got two feet

One of our favorite downtown fashion girls, Hilary Rosenman, formerly of C. Ronson fame, just emailed us to tell us she's started up a new line of footwear with her college pal Barry Budin called Madison Harding.

Perfect for young, fashion-conscious girls on a budget, the line features retro-inspired basic shapes that are must-haves for any chic spring wardrobe. We're particularly fond of the super-cute canvas wedge in red -- a charming nouveau take on a 70s-ish shoe that reminds me of my childhood raid-my-mom's-closet dress-up days.
